Saanich Logger Dies As Big Cedar Topples

A 50-year-old Saanich logger was killed yesterday in the Goldstream watershed when he was caught beneath a heavy cedar he had just felled.

Robert H. Gait, 5164 Old West Road, was found under the tree by two companions at about 4:45 p.m. He was taken by Langford ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital, but pronounced dead on arrival.

WORKING ALONE

An employee of a small logging outfit owned by R. C. Oldfield, 4674 Pipeline Road, Mr.

Gait was working alone about 200 yards ahead of his fellow workers. He was last seen alive at lunch time.

Woodrow Wilson, 5790 Oldfield, was bulldozing a road, and his brother Raymond, 343 Aldecot, was clearing the right-of-way about eight miles past the Goldstream hotel.

"We quit work about a quarter to five," said Woodrow Wilson. "We hollered for him and he didn't answer. So we walked into the woods and my brother found him pinned under the log."

TREE ROLLED

Apparently the cedar, three feet in diameter, rolled as it fell, catching Mr. Gait and pushing him into a tight squatting position, Mr. Wilson said.

It was not certain whether death was due to crushing or to suffocation. An inquest will be held.

Raymond Wilson drove a truck to the nearby home of the watershed watchman to telephone for an ambulance, while Woodrow pried the log away from the body.

Mr. Gait leaves his widow, Margaret, and two sons, Vernon, 13, a student at Royal Oak School, and Douglas, McMoran's Auto Court, who is married and has two sons.

Douglas said last night that his father had been a logger for at least 25 years. On his father's first logging venture, his companion had been killed in a similar accident.

U.S. Jet Smashes Record

NEW YORK (UP)—A Crusader jet fighter streaked across the United States yesterday to set a new transcontinental record of three hours, 23 minutes and 8.4 seconds.

Marine Major John Glenn Jr. flew from Los Alamitos naval air station, California, to New York's Floyd Bennett naval air station at an average speed of 726.48 miles per hour for the 2,460-mile trip.

Glenn beat by 21 minutes and 45.48 seconds the existing official transcontinental record, set March 9, 1955.

Guards Strike

Riots Wreck Prison

PARIS (Reuters)—Two hundred and fifty prisoners in the Sante Prison broke out of their cells Tuesday when guards went on strike.

They roamed the prison, smashing doors and furniture, starting fires, and fighting among themselves.

Five hundred riot police stood guard around the 30-foot wall of the Sante, the grimiest prison in Paris, housing between 2,000 and 3,000 inmates. Firemen pumped thousands of gallons of water on three separate fires while police moved inside to quell the riot.

Trouble started in the North African block of the prison after the guards' strike deprived the prisoners of their breakfast coffee and mid-morning soup. The guards were beginning a 48-hour national strike over pay.

CONVICTS RAN LOOSE

Convicts ran loose in the prison workshops. They set fire to the tailor shop and fed two other blazes with straw mattresses seized from the cells.

One of the prisoners they freed from his cell was Ben Bella, imprisoned military chief of the Algerian insurrection. He is held in the Sante with four other insurgent chiefs who were captured with him when their airplane was diverted to Algeria during a flight from Morocco to Tunis last October.

Reports from the prison said Ben Bella "preached calm" to the other prisoners.

U.S. Forces 'Cut Down'

WASHINGTON (UP)—Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson yesterday ordered the armed forces to cut their authorized strength by 100,000 men by the end of this year in a move to save $200,000,000.

Pedals Way to Health

Peddaling his way back to health is 57-year-old Wilford Wright, Bay Pines, Fla. He was hopelessly stricken with multiple sclerosis in 1930 but regained control of his muscles by chalking up some 136,000 miles on a tricycle. See page 2.—(Colonist photo by Jim Ryan.)

Careless Driver Rapped

They Don't Just Talk In Nanaimo

NANAIMO—When a wild driver careens through the streets of the new Lynburn subdivision here the parents don't just shake their heads and ask each other why the police don't put a stop to it.

They swing into action themselves, as young Gerald Terence Morgan found in Nanaimo police court yesterday when six irate residents paraded into the witness box to accuse him of careless driving.

FINE OF $25

It ended up with the youth being convicted, losing his licence for seven weeks and paying a fine of $25.

The boy's driving was so dangerous, William Harvey Jardie told the court, that "he made me mad." The residents told how they had taken the youth's licence number and reported the incident to police, which led to the charge in court.

George Topp, a trucking operator, told the court that if he saw one of his drivers handling a vehicle that way he'd "fire him the same day."

AVERAGE OF THREE

Mr. Topp said that families on the subdivision have "an average of three children each under eight years of age." He pointed out that there are no sidewalks.

The neighbors testified that Morgan almost overturned his car after swinging into a driveway, then plunged through bushes at the roadside when he left amid screaming tires some time later.

The accused, who had two previous traffic convictions, was told by Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts, "sooner or later you will kill somebody if you don't kill yourself first."

He congratulated the Lynburn neighbors on their action. He hoped others would follow their example.

'That's All We Know' Says School Chairman

By TED SHACKLEFORD

Allegations that a suspended student pressed a broken bottle against a teacher's stomach at Esquimalt High School May 31 and threatened murder have sparked a demand for a thorough investigation of the circumstances leading up to the incident.

Reeve A. C. Wurtele, of Esquimalt last night called for the investigation by the Greater Victoria school board in a special statement to The Daily Colonist.

But Humphrey Golby, chairman of the school board, said: "If there are other circumstances, we are unaware of them." He said he doubted the board would investigate further.

The incident is alleged to have occurred at Esquimalt High School auditorium during graduation observances.

In a letter to Monday night's meeting of the school board, C. A. Kelly, principal of Esquimalt High School, charged that a suspended student had approached teacher Patrick Thomas and pressed a broken bottle against Thomas' stomach. Another teacher nearby had witnessed the incident and made the youth drop the bottle.

"KILL YOU"

Mr. Kelly quoted the student as saying to Thomas: "I am going to kill you."

Greater Victoria school board decided it could not lay a charge against the ex-student, but that any such charge would have to be laid by the teacher concerned.

In his statement to the Colonist last night, Reeve Wurtele said he understood a teacher had preferred a charge verbally against a youth at the time of the alleged incident, but the written charge had not been signed. "In consequence no police action could be taken," he said.

MOST ARE GOOD

Mr. Wurtele said he believed most Esquimalt youths were well behaved.

"We in Esquimalt are proud of our younger set," he said. "Court and juvenile court files will prove that their behaviour is very good."

Commenting on a request by Esquimalt teachers that the services of an off-duty policeman should be made available for evening functions at the school, Mr. Wurtele said he could not understand why it should be necessary.

"I think the presence of a policeman at the very normal and pleasant meetings of Esquimalt High School would be resented by the students," he said. "Further, the police agreement does not permit a police officer to accept outside employment."

Mr. Golby said school inspectors had checked to see if there were any difficulties in the school with staff. "If there was any problem, it was with one teacher and one student," he said.

ONE TEACHER

"Our information is that the boy thought his suspension was due to one particular teacher," he said.

Board had asked Esquimalt police to investigate the circumstances leading up to the incident, and they replied that they had no report to make unless some official complaint was laid, Mr. Golby said.

"If the reeve or any other body brings any new evidence or information on the case that we do not have, we will certainly welcome it," he added.

SURPRISE

Don Smith, president of Greater Victoria Teachers' Association, said last night the report in yesterday's Colonist came as a complete surprise to him.

"I am sure it is not a common thing," he said. "I would

Mind Affected by Pound Duties

Bewildered Pet Lover Puts 'Best Wife in World' to Sleep

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UP)—A dog warden, who said putting puppies and kittens to sleep "must have done something to me," told authorities yesterday he injected a fatal dose of poison into his wife's abdomen.

Walter R. Hoffman, 44, city dog warden and superintendent of the Daytona Beach Humane Society, was charged with second degree murder in the death of his wife, Janet, 51, last July 7.

Hoffman told police he and his wife had spent the day drinking beer and that he had injected two shots of phenobarbital sodium into her abdomen as she sat slumped in a chair.

It was the same poison and hypodermic syringe he used on stray animals which had to be exterminated after they were picked up by the city dog pound or Humane society, Hoffman said.

He had been issued the poison, he said, because the Pound gas chamber was not functioning properly and the "small kittens and dogs would cry too much before they would be put to sleep."

"My wife was one of the best women in the world," Hoffman said. "That's why I can't understand any of this. I've been begging the Lord to give me an answer."

"Something may have gone wrong with me somewhere, because it has really bothered me putting those animals to sleep. It did something to me to see a dog wagging its tail just before I had to put it to sleep."

It's What Doctor Ordered

Whisky Kills Pain

NEWCASTLE-ON-TYNE, England (Reuters)—Dr. Charles Rob says the best drug for the relief of pain is alcohol.

"I don't mean anything pharmaceutical, but WHISKY," the London professor told a British Medical Association meeting Tuesday.

He said it was an extremely good drug in reducing pain in surgical cases involving blood clots and helped the patients sleep.

"We put our patients on big and rapid doses of whisky up to the maximum tolerance in individual cases," he said.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

IT'S a funny world, in the movies and television shows.

For instance: In real life, what would you do if an outlaw band with pistols drawn came galloping down the hill toward you? Or if you were hotly pursued by a pack of starving wolves, or a Thing from Outer Space?

You would get on your bicycle and pedal over the horizon; or climb aboard your horse, boat, airplane or any means of transportation that was handy, and leave the scene at once.

But in the movies, nobody does anything so abrupt. The people have to stop and argue out their emotional problems before they start.

The partners have to decide whether or not one has double-crossed the other. The man and the girl must find out whether they are in love. They don't merely argue about it; they also stare at one another for several minutes on end.

Meanwhile, the posse or the enemy armored brigade or the formation of plague-carrying rats is thundering toward them, drawing so close that the people in the audience have to shout: "Quit the talk, you fools, and RUN."

To be brutally candid, the people in the movies may be brave, but they are too slow-witted to survive in the real world.

Of course they don't have to be exceedingly bright, because in the movies, the machinery nearly always works first crack. Television sets light up with a clear, perfect picture as soon as they are snapped on; long-distance phone calls across the world are put through in seconds; six-shooters rattle off 12 rounds without a misfire.

Even in the desert or at the top of the Andes, people in movies seem able to summon a taxi within two minutes, merely by snapping together the thumb and finger.

Despite these powers, the people in movies are unfit to cope with practical affairs. They are so wasteful that in real life they would go bankrupt within a week.

They are forever taking one puff from a cigaret, stubbing it out, and tearing away to answer an urgent summons. In any adventure story worth its saltpetre, a leading actor runs through eight or 10 packages of cigarets a day.

Time and again, some minor crisis impels movie folk to rise from a table loaded with untouched food and walk away without a backward glance—sometimes without paying the bill.

Adults rush away from bars without finishing their drinks. Nervous and prodigal teen-agers leave behind full glasses of chocolate soda and hurry away to wrestle with some problem.

They are not the kind of teen-agers you meet in real life. The average healthy lass or youth, no matter how troubled in mind, would finish the chocolate soda before he went anywhere. And if the person on the next stool were so unbalanced as to go away and leave his soda untouched, a healthy youth would drink that, too.

Veteran Has Pedalled From Despair to Hope

By FARRIS RYGH

A 57-year-old American First World War veteran who is pedalling his way from despair to a new life arrived in Victoria yesterday with his principal possession—a tricycle.

Willard F. Wright of the Veterans Administration Hospital, Bay Pines, near St. Petersburg, Fla., has coasted, pedalled and pushed his tricycle across the United States four times and is now on his fifth trip.

He was diagnosed in a Washington, D.C. hospital in 1930 as having multiple sclerosis. In 1938, a hopeless cripple, he was sent to Bay Pines Veterans Hospital.

With determination he began therapy and in 1939 bought his first adult tricycle to help build up and reeducate his leg muscles.

QUARTER-MILE DAY

Mr. Wright started by pedalling one-quarter mile a day and gradually, after two years, was covering 250 miles a week.

In 1941, he took a 2,600-mile jaunt to Havana by way of Washington, D.C., New York and Miami, returning to St. Petersburg via Key West, Fla.

A trip to Halifax, N.S., and back was completed in 1943. In 1944 he journeyed to Sidney, N.S., via Washington and Montreal.

The 1947 trip was his longest, covering 6,000 miles.

In all these lengthy trips he had to use a cane and could walk no more than one-quarter of a mile.

It was 1950 before he could walk without using a cane.

"Weight was off my legs when pedalling," he explains, "and I wanted to show people what can be done."

He has pedalled more than 136,000 miles since 1939.

Mr. Wright left St. Petersburg on May 3 on this trip, following Highways 80 and 101 across the United States to Seattle.

Originally headed for Alaska, he has been forced to change his plans because he couldn't get boat reservations and will take the train to Banff and Lake Louise, Alta., instead.

Mr. Wright averages 70 to 100 miles a day from about 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

"Some places you are lucky to make 50 miles a day," he said.

Equipment on these trips consists of a pocket radio, extra clothing, maps, a one-gallon thermos and a big volume of press clippings.

Asked about weather, he said: "It doesn't make any difference. One place in Texas I pedalled through a 50-mile-an-hour dust storm."

Modest about his cycling record, he says: "It wasn't me who did it. God has shown me the way. It takes a lot of faith."

Mrs. Mary E. Neve Funeral Set Today

Funeral services will be held today in Seattle for Mrs. Mary Emily Neve, a former resident of Victoria. She died Saturday.

Born in England, she came to Canada with her family in 1882 and lived in Winnipeg until 1908. Her husband, who died six years ago, was a contractor and the family lived in many cities while he was working on construction jobs.

Mr. Neve supervised the construction of the Hudson's Bay Company store here.

Mrs. Neve is the sister of Harry Buckle of Victoria who was on the printing staff of the Daily Colonist for 42 years.

Vaccine Effective

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio said yesterday the mass inoculation of children with polio vaccine of the Salk type has resulted in a sharp fall in the number of cases in the Soviet capital.

OTTAWA (CP)—A meeting between the government and British Columbia courts hand federal civil service representatives down a ruling on the right of B.C. provincial civil servants to collective bargaining for civil servants is expected to be held next week, Parliament Hill sources said yesterday.

Fred Whitehouse, president of the Civil Service Federation of Canada, the largest of several organizations comprising civil service personnel, said today an interview had been requested of the State Secretary Fairclough to canvass the subject.

He said the request asked that Prime Minister Diefenbaker now holidaying in the West attend the meeting. Mrs. Fairclough's office said the meeting is under discussion and likely would be held next week. The prime minister is due back next Tuesday and the fixing of the date would have to suit his timetable.

Mr. Whitehouse indicated his federation's aim is to have the whose party holds the balance of power in the new House of Commons, where the Progressive Conservative government does not command a clear majority.

Mental institutions in Canada had 88,137 patients at the start of 1955, nearly double the 1952 figure.

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain Or Discomfort

Finds Healing Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months.

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance—Bio-Dyne—the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing several types of all parts of the body.

They Hunt Heads In Rainy Season

MANILA (UP)—Manila constabulary officials expressed fear yesterday the rainy season had revived headhunting activities in northern Luzon in the Philippines.
Last week a member of the headhunting Ilongot tribe killed a Christian farmer in Quezon province, and constabulary reports said the killer must have taken the victim's head to present to the parents of his intended bride, as is the custom of the tribe.
The report said the rainy season is an ideal mating season to the Ilongots.

Three Reds Fired

Purge Spreads to Bulgaria

VIENNA (UP)—Communist Bulgaria last night fired its interior minister and two other ranking officials from the party leadership. It thus became the second satellite to follow Russia's lead and clean out "anti-party" elements.
Radio Sofia broadcast a communique by the party central committee announcing that interior Minister and Vice-Premier Georgi Tschankoff was dropped from the party polit-buro. Two other leaders were dismissed from the central committee itself.

As interior minister, Tschankoff was responsible for internal security and controlled the police forces.

All three were accused of trying to "undermine the party's unity."

The charges suggested that in addition to losing his party standing, Tschankoff also will lose his government job.

This was the pattern adopted by the Soviets in ousting the "Molotov trio" and by Romania, which dismissed two politburo members and then fired the one who held a government post from his job as well.

Those dismissed from the central committee with Tschankoff were Dobri Terpeschett and Jonko Panoff, two veteran Communists.

This was the second fall from grace for Terpeschett. He had served as a deputy premier and was dismissed in 1949 from both his government and party posts. He made a comeback in the central committee in 1954. Panoff is relatively unknown in the West.

The Bulgarian communique used much the same language as the original Soviet denunciation of Vyacheslav Molotov, Georgi Malenkov and Lazar Kaganovich when they were dismissed from their party posts early this month.

It said all members of the central committee, meeting July 11 and 12, "sharply condemned the anti-party attitude of Tschankoff, Terpeschett and Panoff."

'Prefabricated Lie'

Candidate Denies Ballots Stolen

STE GENEVIEVE, Que. (CP)—Postponement of municipal elections in this Montreal suburb Monday after all ballots were reported stolen at gunpoint from an official has provoked a storm of protests and accusations from opposition candidates.

Mayor Armand Lacombe told voters who turned out to cast ballots that the elections would have to be postponed because town secretary-treasurer Roland Gratton had been assaulted at his home and all the ballots were stolen.

One opposition candidate—police inspector George Pigeon of nearby town of Mount Royal—called the robbery story a "prefabricated lie" and said Mayor Lacombe is "a dictator who is afraid of an honest election."

"The ballots certainly weren't stolen by us," he said. "We wanted the election."

John Gilmour, another opposition candidate, said the postponement is not "the first obstacle we've encountered in this election."

He said candidates "were forced to go to the polls with old voters' lists."

"The mayor told us new rolls were being made, but would not be available until later. They weren't ready by election day."

Mayoralty candidate Romeo Labrosse said he had anticipated election-day troubles.

Monday's proposed election was to have chosen a mayor and three councillors. One councillor, Paul Labrosse, was re-elected by acclamation.

She Judges People By Their Shoes

Many high school graduates are working this summer to earn money for further education and one girl will buy hers selling shoes.

Joan Sims, 17, is working in the T. Eaton Company shoe department for the summer so she will be able to attend Victoria College in September.

This is only the first of her working vacations. Joan plans to go on to university and take up teaching or forest biology.

After working weekends in the shoe department for 2½ years, shoes have become almost a hobby with Joan.

She "collects" them and feels she can judge people by their shoes. "If you look at a person's shoes, you can usually tell what type of person they are," she said. "One of the best clues to a person's personality is whether their shoes are kept shined."

Joan now has a collection of 22 pairs of shoes and one-half a day each week is spent keeping them shined.

When she is not busy selling or shining shoes, Joan is an active member of the Victoria Girls' Drill Team and recently made a trip to the Lion's convention in San Francisco with the team.

Joan, who lives at 2834 Adelaide, graduated from Victoria High School last month.

Mediator Wismer Gets $1,666 Fee

Provincial cabinet yesterday authorized payment of $1,666.60 in fees to former B.C. Attorney-General Gordon Wismer, Q.C., for his work as chief conciliation officer in the recent woodworkers' labor dispute.

Mr. Wismer said the board sat for 10 days and that he spent another four days on research in reaching his findings on how to settle the dispute between lumber operators and the International Woodworkers of America.

The JWA refused to accept Mr. Wismer's suggestion of a four-month "truce" and a strike was averted at the last minute when Premier Bennett was successful in getting the parties together again.

Walkout Illegal Says CPR

VANCOUVER (CP)—A CPR official Tuesday described as irresponsible a statement by the firemen's union chief that a strike of locomotive firemen in the railway's Pacific division may be called by Aug. 15.

John Graham of Montreal, general chairman of the International Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, said here Monday strike action will tie up the line Aug. 15 unless agreement is reached in a dispute over seniority.

He said the company has been trying to make senior men do jobs away from home instead of leaving such jobs to junior men. William Manson, vice-president of the railway's Pacific division, said today in a release: "Strikes during the life of a collective agreement are specifically forbidden by the Industrial Relations and Disputes Act and the strike talked about by Mr. Graham would be a violation of the law."

"The mere threat of such a strike demonstrates the complete irresponsibility of Mr. Graham and his associates."

Graham had said the brotherhood's Pacific grievance committee voted unanimously Friday in favor of strike action, and negotiations Monday were fruitless.

Co-operation Necessary

SOONER or later all municipalities in the Greater Victoria region will need to sit down together to work out a long-range plan for the solution of traffic congestion, from the hub of the city to the circumference of each of them. As more and more vehicles are put on the roads yearly in a highway network which was not designed for such expansion the problems and the confusion can only increase. Even five years from now the present control systems may be wholly inadequate, separate as they are in each municipality. Area-wide solutions will be needed, because piecemeal progress is getting nowhere.

It is becoming plain that in at least three major divisions of the subject of traffic control local and parochial remedies are not enough. Victoria city itself is within measurable distance of the time when its peak hour congestions may become solid traffic jams at the hub of the whole system. There can be no permanent relief of that condition without adequate arterial outlets. Finally, highways debouching from a city must be properly integrated with the road systems of the districts through which they run. There is nothing piecemeal about the condition; it is a problem facing the whole of the Greater Victoria region.

Other developing areas have faced the same complication in their traffic situations before now. There must be plenty of precedent and example for what should be done. Recognition of the problem as a joint one would be a step forward in the community. Planning of any integrated solutions cannot come without that; while beyond the planning is the necessity for dovetailed action on remedies which will have a region-wide result. One of the really pressing needs of the time is for a conscious and earnest study of the whole question. Victoria does not want to reach the point where it will be bypassed because its traffic has developed into a perpetual snarl. Nor is there any reason for that to happen if forethought is given to the matter now.

A practical start would be for the provincial highways department, concerned with the main trunk highways outside municipal areas, to lead in the formation of a regional conference including the representatives of all municipalities in the area to study the situation as it exists. From that review a clearer perspective would come of what the chief traffic pressures of the future are likely to be and how best they can be met. Also, through such understanding of the problem would come the desire for integration of plans, and for a level of co-operation in traffic control which is seriously lacking now. This is one problem that the Greater Victoria region cannot let drift. It will be difficult enough to solve with united action all round.

Straw in the Wind

PRIME Minister Diefenbaker is fully entitled to accept the result of the election in the federal riding of South Wellington, Ontario, on Monday as a mandate for the Conservatives to remain in office as a minority government at least for the time being. The overwhelming victory of the Conservative candidate there is doubly significant: first because South Wellington formerly was a Liberal stronghold, and second as an indication of a popular swing towards the Conservatives.

How the election might have resulted if it had been held on June 10 before the defeat of the Liberals was known is now a matter of no more than speculative interest. Possibly if death had not intervened to postpone the South Wellington election the Liberal candidate would have been returned. With the Liberals ousted, however, the electors of the Ontario riding transferred their votes to the Conservative candidate so strongly as to give him a large majority over both his opponents. The human urge to be "on the winning team" thus is plainly demonstrated.

The outcome in South Wellington also may afford an indication of what may be expected in the Lanark, Ontario, by-election on Sept. 9. More than that, it may be interpreted by the Liberals as an indication of what they might expect if they enlisted the support of other members to defeat the Diefenbaker government at the fall session. The Liberals are in a very awkward position. To force an election—if they could—would be to run the risk of having the country as a whole do more or less what South Wellington has done. The probability is that that would be the result and that the Conservatives would be returned with at least a working if not a landslide majority; for Quebec, too, has a penchant for favoring the winning side.

The Spanish Succession

A MEMBER of the Franco cabinet has told the Spanish parliament that when the generalissimo dies or resigns as head of state Spain will become a monarchy. This is not news, nor is the general speculation that in such event it will be the grandson and not the son of the last king, Alfonso XIII, who will ascend the throne. As long ago as 1947 Franco submitted a draft law to the Cortes, announced later as affirmed by public referendum, providing for a monarchy to succeed him. No steps other than periodic negotiations with the Spanish Pretender, however, have eventuated to date.

No doubt General Franco wants to avoid an upsetting struggle for power when he dies; that is the usual result when a dictator passes. Unless he has plans to give up the headship of state the presumed next king of Spain may nevertheless wait a long time for his honors. Franco is only 63 years of age and conceivably could add greatly to the 20 years of dictatorship that has been his. Indications are however that the generalissimo is paving the way for a succession that in orderliness would be the antithesis of his own.

A new head of state for Spain, monarch or president, would invite a distinct change of atmosphere with other nations. Even though she managed to gain admission to the United Nations little more than a year ago Spain has been more or less in the diplomatic doghouse in postwar years. Spain was in the Nazi-Fascist side during the war, but at least she withheld from a military action that would have placed the Allies at serious disadvantage in the Mediterranean, and West Germany and Italy are now deemed to be friendly nations. The Franco name is in bad odor, however; he is the last of the Axis dictators still to survive.

Looked at objectively he is a much less disturbing influence than the Communist overlords of Russia and China, for example, and his rule in Spain has been remarkably quiescent considering its origin. Prejudice dies hard, however, so that the end of Franco's dominance of his own country probably would bespeak a new era for Spain. Whether his plans for a monarchical successor will mean a peaceful transition of power when voluntarily or by the compulsion of natural demise he retires from the scene, is an interesting question for the future.

Interpreting the News

Inflationary Trends Noted

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press Correspondent

INFLATION is becoming an increasing problem through the Western community of nations.

The debate in Great Britain follows lines close to those in the United States.

Will tight money, and a voluntary lessening of labor union pressure for higher wages, be sufficient to halt the trend?

Those are the two points about which most British comments revolve.

The chronic inflation in most Latin American countries has now broken into a gallop.

France is under tensions which have not yet come to a head, but which constantly threaten her with devaluation. She has continued a good many wartime controls. Right now she is faced with two problems.

She is increasing her reliance on import quotas in an effort to stop the outflow of foreign exchange on one hand, while trying to increase exports on the other. This concern with exports in turn has its effect on domestic inflation.

France has price controls with which she seeks to prevent the automatic wage increases which accompany rising living costs there.

She is even making what is for France a rather revolutionary effort to collect taxes.

Since the Second World War she has had heavy military expenses in Indochina and Africa, and the pace is telling.

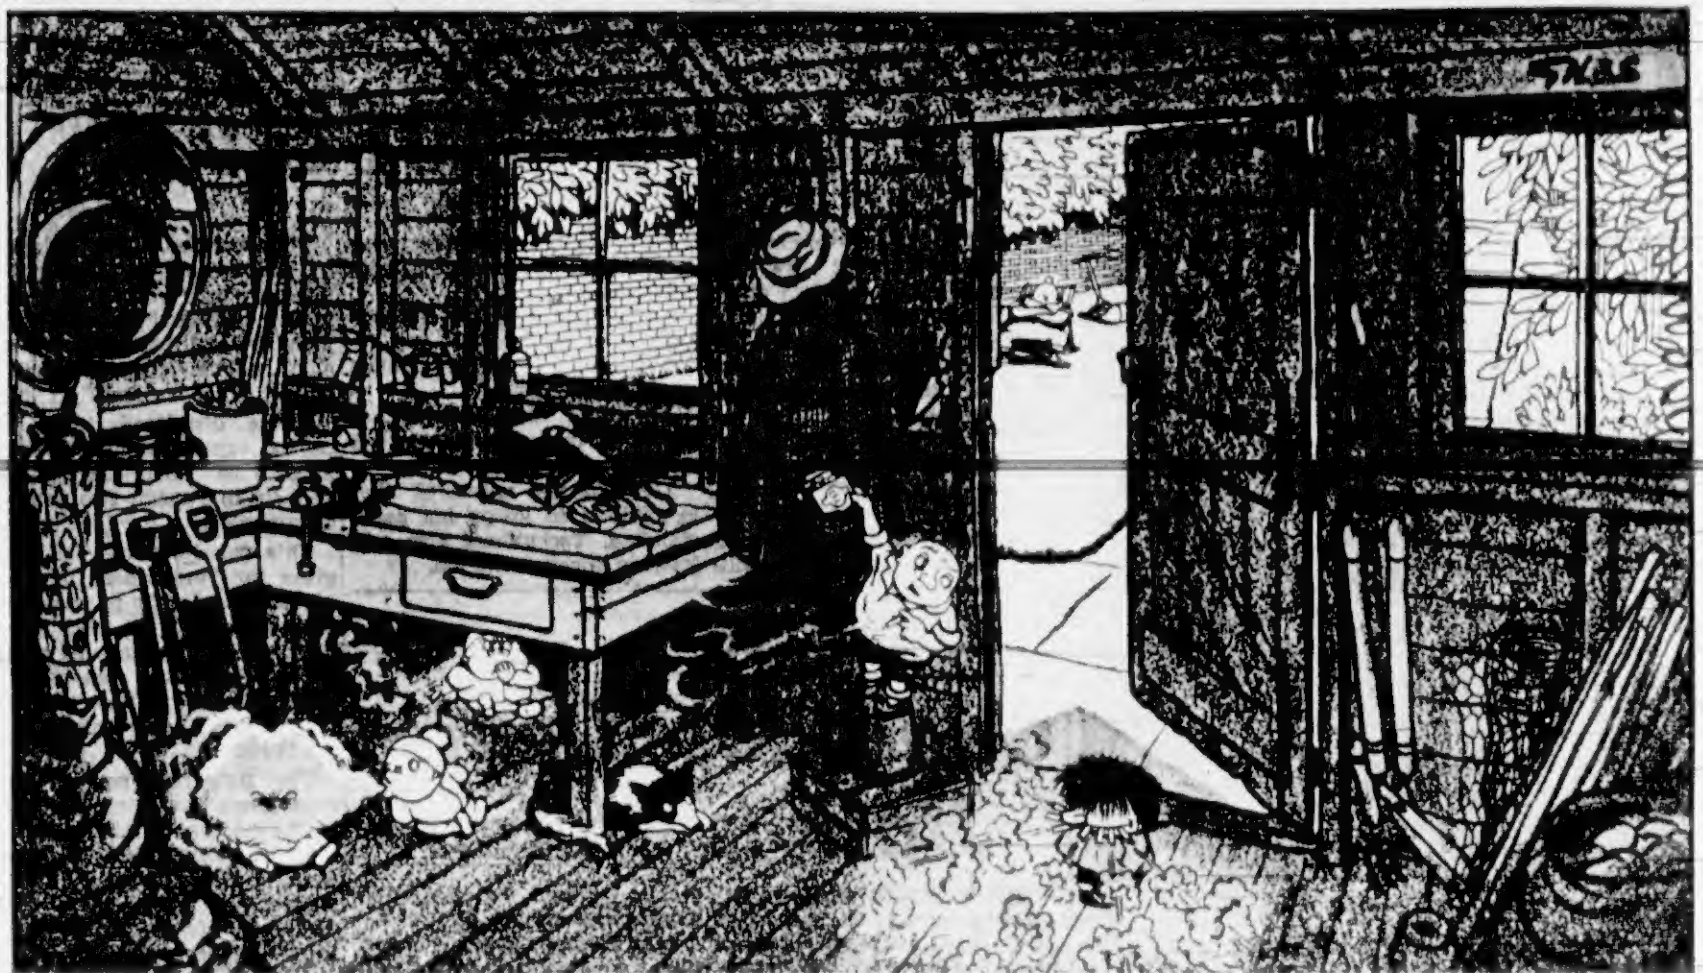

Italy has tried to stiffen her money and hold price lines. One result has been to increase unemployment, already a serious political and economic problem without reducing pressure for increased wages.

These countries are running into trouble during a period of relative prosperity.

Britain's economy has been going through one crisis after another ever since the war. One of the basic reasons why Britain's anti-inflation measures have not succeeded is that increasing industrialization around the world weakens her place as artisan of its raw materials and banker for its development.

Congress is trying to find out why there should be inflation in the United States in a period when there is a relatively good balance between supply and demand.

In a few months, however, the American problem may be vastly complicated by request for help in supporting the currencies of some of her allies.

Thinking Aloud—Letter from London

"... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

I f you have a teenage daughter and her boy friend writes her a poem tell her to hang on to it. It might make her famous some day. That was the way with Annie Laurie. Had she not kept her souvenirs and lived to be a grandmother she wouldn't have been immortalized in perhaps the best known love song of all.

Unlike most songs, you see, "Annie Laurie" had a real heroine. She was a laird's daughter and, I suppose, a pretty young thing. At least the song says her brow was like a snowdrift and her throat like a swan. If you took this literally it would mean she had a long neck; but you must allow the poet her swain, some license of expression.

There is nothing to suggest that William Douglas, her suitor, ever wrote any more poetry; and when he courted Annie he was a soldier, a type not normally given to poetry. As we shall see, his lines were altered, so the analogy of the swan may not have been his.

Or perhaps since events turned out differently he gave up poetry.

You would judge from the song, however, that the love affair was akin to that of Romeo and Juliet, Dante and Beatrice, etc. Does not William sing that he'll "lay me down and die" for Annie's sake?

As a matter of fact he didn't. He married someone else and, supposedly, lived happily ever after.

He was only 20 when, the story goes, he pressed some "rough verses" into Annie's hand when he met her in a garden tryst. Annie was 16, the right age to inspire a youthful poet. William hoped to marry her, and he was on the eve of overseas service, but something went wrong. The record says she was a dutiful daughter, so perhaps the laird objected. On the other hand it's said of Annie that she was a lass of definite views, so perhaps it was just that William didn't measure up.

Anyway, they parted after he gave her his poetic effusion, never to resume their romance.

In due course Annie got married, too, but she clung through the years to the poem penned for her by a handsome young soldier. The lyric remained among her most treasured possessions, and when she was an old lady she showed the yellowing paper to her favorite grand-niece.

Perhaps the grand-niece was just sweet 16 too; at any rate the sentiments took her fancy and she committed them to heart, so that one day, after Annie had died at 82, she sang the lyric in the company of a few friends. Listening to her was a collector of Scots ballads, and he got permission to print the verses in a book—intended for private circulation.

This is where Lady John Scott of Buccleuch came in. She was a gifted musician and verse writer and saw the possibilities in William Douglas' "rough verse." She set about improving the original lines, a word here and there, although making as few changes as possible.

She added the third and last verse, however, giving Annie the "fa' o' her fairy feet" and the voice that "is low and sweet" the song tells us about, and composing the melody that has haunted the world ever since.

The song, first sung as we know it today about the middle of the last century, became famous immediately.

Thus the tryst between Annie Laurie and William Douglas became immortal; Annie who "gave her promise true" and William who said she'd "never forget will be." The promise wasn't kept but she hasn't been forgotten, and all because as an old lady she kept her souvenirs.

Boom for West Wales

By RICHARD L. THOMAS, Daily Colonist Correspondent

FOR nearly 150 years Milford Haven in Pembrokeshire has been, officially at least, a naval base. In fact it has zoomed into comparative prosperity in two world wars and then become deflated into a humble fishing port. A hundred years ago the pioneers of the Great Western Railway (now the Western Region of British Railways) had dreams of making Milford Haven into an Atlantic terminal at a time when ships for America were leaving almost every fishing village in Wales.

It was only 80 years ago when vessels built in Cardigan were offering emigrant passages to America for $7.50 a head—but you had to provide your own food, which meant that chickens, sheep and ducks accompanied the emigrants for slaughter on the voyage. The Great Western Railway had the idea of rationalizing the emigrant traffic—making a grand terminal port at Milford Haven, which Admiral Lord Nelson described as the best harbor in the world, and building ships which would make fast Atlantic crossings and reap rich rewards for a progressive railway enterprise. In the end the Great Western concentrated on the Irish traffic and made its main development the packet port of Fishguard, and Milford Haven's hope of development and prosperity faded away until the First World War brought the Royal Navy there in strength.

It was even more important in the Second World War because of the neutrality of Fire which meant the closure of the southern Irish bases to the Royal Navy. In 1945 it faded again and became the home of a few steam travelers—and the dream of proper development remained a dream.

Now those dreams are becoming realities. Milford Haven seems to have its future secured by the aftermath of the Suez crisis. It is to become Britain's No. 1 oil port specially adapted to take the world's largest tankers—the natural harbor will take vessels up to 100,000 tons—and one oil company is already preparing plans for a $50,000,000 refinery with two others with similar ideas if they can obtain the land. There are also plans for underground pipelines to distribute the fuel to the main centres of Britain.

New wharves and docks, refineries and ancillary development involve an investment of something like $100,000,000 and employment for about 11,000 additional workers, involving an increase in population of between 30,000 and 40,000 people.

A second potential development is a new departure in the Atlantic passenger service. An American company with plans for superliners with a $50 transport charge and restaurants and self-service cafeterias with meals to suit all pockets believes that Milford Haven will make the ideal Atlantic terminal. It will provide the shortest possible Atlantic crossing to Europe; the company envisages fast liners being able to make the trip in three to 3½ days and allow a speedy turn round for the ships.

The motive behind the new development is the idea that Atlantic passengers are being provided with a service they do not really require. Ships take on new luxuries, elaborate fittings and more elaborate meals. No one disputes the comparatively good value but the ever-increasing passage rates are making it difficult for people to find the money. The operators of the new service—planned for two years hence—believe that there is a big public awaiting a minimum fare, reasonable comfort and meals which may be streamlined to individual purses. They believe that with all reasonable virtualizing expenses the passenger will be able to cross the Atlantic by the new ships at an all-in cost of about half the present tourist fare. The advent of the British dollar tourist allowance, nominal though it is, will make the new service still more attractive.

If it does terminate at Milford Haven it will bring more work for dockers, railwaymen and others; and already developers are talking in terms of a nearby airport to cope with passengers who want to fly to distant parts of the British Isles and Europe and air services which will connect with Atlantic liners.

Development of the project has begun. New docks are being built and land is being reclaimed from the swampy areas for industrial development. Within two years Milford Haven hopes to have the only dry-dock in Britain capable of taking a 100,000-ton ship and the railways are busy with plans to allow for the developments necessary to cope with the increased traffic.

After 150 years West Wales is getting ready for a boom, and Pembrokeshire, from being one of the poorer counties, will become one of the better off. Indirectly it is Colonel Nasser who is responsible. He cleared away the mists of confusion which had surrounded the oil companies and they have resolved that a port and ships which will make Britain independent of the Suez Canal is essential.

Problems yet to be resolved are the provision of an adequate water supply and power. An atomic power station is probable and the water can be made available by means of a dam costing $1,000,000. Both should be adequate for all needs for the next 50 years.

The Packsack

By GREGORY CLARK

ONE of my relatives who is in her mid-sixties lives in the southern States but comes up to Canada each summer to her cottage on the lakes. The journey up and down each year, whether by train or motor car, is long and more tedious with the passing years. Her children have been urging her for years to fly up and down, which can be done between breakfast and supertime. But the idea, until this year, has filled her with horror.

Her familiar remark on seeing an aircraft has been:

"They'll never get me up in one of those things."

This year, due to family confusions of one kind or another, a situation developed in which time was of the essence; and to her own astonishment, which was not as great as that of her family, she agreed to fly.

There is no convert like an elderly convert. On that trip, she was in three aircraft: a local flight from her town to a main southern airport, the big super American machine that brought her to the northern city where she transferred to TCA; and the Viscount which delivered her to Canada. But in the three weeks since she has been here, she has worked up more knowledge about aircraft than most of us acquire in our lives.

"Why," she gave scornfully, "it's the only way to travel. Let me tell you of an experience I had flying over Alabama..."

As aircraft fly over now, she looks affectionately up, and names the type. So far she gets most of the types wrong. But she entertains us with advice and counsel on the little tricks one must know in order to travel efficiently by air: things to expect of the hostess; how to look after your luggage at the terminals; how many of a crew on an American ship as compared with a TCA plane.

On hearing of a plane crash in the news last night, she said:

"But my dears, do you realize how few accidents there are in the air as compared with motoring, or even on the railways?"

I had planned this coming Christmas gift for her a subscription to the biggest aviation magazine. But I learned she had subscribed already.

'Little' Audrey?

From The Hamilton Spectator

WE don't think many people in our part of the world knew or cared very much that the U.S. Weather Bureau called its hurricanes by women's names until Hurricane Hazel blew tragedy into Ontario nearly three years ago.

This season's first hurricane is called Audrey, and we see that she has hit Texas and Louisiana with tragic force. Up here we can afford to call her "Little Audrey," but may she, and all her subsequent sisters, do their blowing south of the border, and not too much of it there.

Following Audrey will come Bertha, Carrie, Debbie, Esther, Freda, Grace, Hannah, Inga, Jessie, Kathie, Lisa, Margo, Nelly, Odelle, Patty, Quintia, Roxie, Sandra, Theo, Urdine, Venus, Wanda, Xma, Yasmin and Zita.

We hope none of these gruesome girls will drop in on us and oblige us to call her by her first name. Hazel's visit in October of 1954 was more than enough... so good-bye Zita.

Author: "Of course, darling, after you tell me who read it to you."

A London newspaper ran the first advertisement in 1857 for coffee, and described it like this: "A very wholesome and physical drink, having many excellent virtues, closes the Office of the Stomach, fortifies the heart within, quickeneth the Spirit, helpeth Digestion, maketh the heart light-some, is good against Eye-sores, Coughs or Colds, Rhumes, Consumptions, Headach, Dropsie, Gout, Scourvy, King's Evil and many others."

The accused had been duly convicted when it was proved on further evidence that he actually had been in prison at the time the act was committed.

"Why didn't you say so?" demanded the judge.

"Well," said the prisoner apologetically, "I was afraid of prejudicing the jury against me."

Letters to the Editor

Unfair to Some

Would you be kind enough to give me space to ask the reeve and council of Esquimalt about the latest of many injustices to some taxpayers, namely those who are asking for local improvements. The price at the beginning of 1956 was $1.50 a lineal foot; example a 60-foot frontage costing the taxpayer $9 a year for 15 years. Later that year the price jumped $6 a 60-foot frontage to cost $12 or $15 a year.

The taxpayers are already paying for the 1952 street loan of the enormous sum of $300,000, plus 5 per cent interest for 15 years. Taxes have risen quite a lot the last two years. Why are the prices going up on local improvements? Councilor J. Bryant told me the people are happy to pay; rather a high-handed statement.

I think the reeve and council owe a statement to the taxpayers, giving the reasons for this unfair treatment to some of the taxpayers. They cannot blame this on to the new Municipal Act. It just came into force July 1, 1957.

The latest unfairness is asking the people who live on corner lots to pay full price for flanking; previously it was half price. Esquimalt is getting more taxes every year; the government grant is larger than it has ever been; sewerage work is almost completed, so why the unfairness to some taxpayers? An explanation is long overdue.

Power of Suggestion

May I take exception to your scare headlines in Sunday's paper — "Some Will Die Next Winter" . . . "Thousands of Canadians in for Asiatic Flu Bouts." Surely this is exorbitant psychology on the part of the "Toronto medical authority" who makes the prediction, and on your part for printing it. The power of suggestion is very great, therefore let us predict that the flu will never come here, or if it does, that it will be practically harmless and nothing to fear.

Controls Imperative

In the final analysis, the temporary settlement of two strike threats (IWA and civil service) must necessarily reflect on the timid B.C. premier and his "yes-men" cabinet by yielding as they did. Can it be considered anything less than ill-advised appeasement?

The taxpayers become the paying goats; and the cost of living will rise again by the wage spiral.

This labor union movement, international in scope, has developed serious dictatorial tactics that indicate extensive power-seeking. Their successful wage "demands" (labor's favorite word) are economically destroying our export trade, thus delighting Russia as the probable instigators-through Communist agents in North America and overseas.

Government wage and price controls, plus some better form of income and profit taxation, appear imperative. Some would interpret this as "undemocratic." But labor's obvious greed, dictatorial arrogance and intimidation offer no other solution. The "non-unionists" of the public are in the majority and should demand that the trade union power challenge be met and defeated. Are politicians too cowardly to seek legislative correction of the economic evils and inflation—too afraid of losing labor votes?

It is time for drastic nationwide action against a cancerous growth. Russia wouldn't tolerate it. With so-called "Canadian courage," why do we?

Cathedral's Architect

In connection with the dedication of the west front and towers of Christ Church Cathedral I have seen no mention of the architect of this noble edifice—the late Mr. J. C. M. Keith, FRIBA, of this city.

Many old timers, no doubt, will remember Mr. Keith who came to Victoria in 1891 and in that year achieved the triumph of his architectural career when his plans for Christ Church Cathedral were chosen by Sir Arthur Blomfield, B.A. of London, from a field of entries in a competition. Mr. Keith lived to see the completion of the nave under his supervision and died in 1940.

The recent removal of the scaffolding has revealed the grandeur of the west front, in part, though it is obvious that the two towers require to be carried up considerably higher to conform with Mr. Keith's design—as depicted in the view on the front page of the cathedral leaflet each week. It is to be hoped that means will be found to complete them thus.

One Sentence Ends Minor Crime Wave

NANAIMO—Frederick John Mackenzie, 16, was sentenced to 18 months in the Young Offenders' Unit at Oakalla Tuesday after pleading guilty to seven different offences in police court here.

Mackenzie, who twice escaped from Brannan Lake School, admitted stealing two motorboats at Lantzville June 16; breaking and entering into the home of Mrs. May Rogers on the same date; breaking and entering and theft from Nanaimo Air Cadet and Sea Cadet headquarters July 1; theft of money from the glove compartment of a car in premises belonging to Donald Braithwaite of Chase River on July 2; and theft of a half-ton truck at Ladysmith. Magistrate Lionel Beaver-Potts considered sending the youth to the penitentiary "where he would get better training." On account of his age, however, Mackenzie was committed to Oakalla.

Canadian customs officials disclosed yesterday that a Timmins couple drove 150 miles from Allison, Mich., to here with their son's dead body in their car because a Michigan undertaker wanted to charge them too much. Customs officials investigated the case after a novice inspector permitted Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Berrie to pass the body of their eight-year-old son through customs.

Parents of the 17-year-old boy named in Mr. Kelly's letter were quite pleasant when interviewed by The Daily Colonist but declined to make any comment for publication. The boy himself was not home at the time.

Mrs. Margaret Willis, president of the Victoria and District Parent-Teacher Council, also declined to comment on the situation.

Drivers Covered While in Britain

Full membership rights of the British Automobile Association have been arranged for B.C. Automobile Association members touring overseas. It was announced yesterday by BCAA officials.

Under the new scheme Commonwealth membership cards, good for six months, will be issued BCAA members visiting Britain. It is forerunner of a scheme which will eventually cover the Commonwealth.

Mr. Kelly, whose letter and report to the Greater Victoria school board first disclosed the allegations, said last night the youth appeared to be under the influence of liquor at the time of the incident. He blamed availability of liquor for many instances of juvenile delinquency.

"NO DRINKING"

"We don't have any drinking in the school," he said, but added that parties held by students after they left the school were not the responsibility of the school.

"The incident complained of was merely the culmination of two or three incidents that happened before," he charged.

There had been a suggestion that the ex-student might have been under the influence of drugs at the time, he said, but could not say whether or not there was any truth in the suggestion.

Mr. Kelly said he was not present at the time of the assault, but had quoted a report from the teacher concerned, Patrick Thomas, in his letter and report to the school board.

"My staff wants to feel that something definite is done so there will not be any repetitions," he said, but added, "I don't think any of them would change schools."

School board solicitor W. H. M. Haldane wrote a letter to Monday night's school board meeting on the situation. He was inadvertently reported as writing that the Criminal Code of Canada needed more "teeth." He said yesterday he was referring to the Public Schools Act.

Schools in Trouble

About 19,000 students are expected to enroll at Greater Victoria schools in September, an increase of 1,500 over last year.

Because of the anticipated enrollment, school accommodation may be established in the auditoriums at Willows and Monterey Elementary Schools if enrollments warrant this action.

In addition, a number of Margaret Jenkins students who have been promoted from Grade 6 to Grade 7 will receive teaching of junior high school work at Margaret Jenkins until additions at Oak Bay Junior High are completed.

This arrangement is comparable to the one carried out at Oaklands and Doncaster in relation to the Lansdowne Junior High.

Margaret Jenkins pupils eligible to attend Central Junior High will not be affected, but several students from the Monterey School area will have to take part of Grade 7 lessons at Margaret Jenkins.

Greater Victoria school board has appointed 102 new teachers and a further seven will return to duty after leave or exchange duties. Of the new teachers, 27 are men, 33 married women and 42 single women.

With Harry Young

It looks as if Laurie Kerr may be Vancouver Island's only contender for a place on the B.C. Willingdon Cup team to be picked Sunday evening after the B.C. Closed championship at Marine Drive this weekend.

The island's only other ranking contender, Bill McColl, told me yesterday he did not intend to take part because, if chosen, he would not think he could get away to play in the inter-provincial tournament at Winnipeg.

The averages of leading B.C. players in medal competitive rounds this year, giving the number of rounds played in brackets, are: Jack Wilson (5) 71.60; Bert Teehurst (8) 72.25; Doug Bajus (8) 72.50; Bob Kidd (6) 72.66; John Russell (8) 72.875; Joe Jeroski (7) 73.57; Jack Ellis (9) 74.22; Len Morgan (8) 74.25; John Johnston (6) 74.33; Bill McColl (7) 74.57; Laurie Kerr (11) 75.27; Vic Painter (11) 77.09.

The picture may be altered after the closed championship, but at the moment the island's hope of a place does not look too bright.

The exception, of course, is in the junior field. Bill Wakeham of Gorge Vale and Uplands, as B.C. junior champion, should be an automatic choice, although some mainland voters may go to the consistent Joe Jeroski, the championship runner-up.

INVITATION TO SCHOOLS: An offer to supply golfing lessons in the Victoria high schools and junior high schools next winter has been made by the Victoria District Golf Committee in conjunction with the B.C. youth development program. The school trustees at their meeting this week commended the committee for its offer and passed the proposal along to the education committee with power to act.

The scheme is that local professionals should give a series of lessons early next year at selected schools, and that this should be followed by an open schools tournament with the most successful competitors going to the B.C. schools' championship on the mainland.

Funds for the purpose will come from the B.C. Youth Fund, to which all members of local clubs make a subscription.

OLSON IN HURRY: A young man in a hurry to catch up on the world's record of holes in one is Victoria's Keith Olson. A fairly recent member of the Victoria Golf Club, Keith has scored three of the six short holes on the Oak Bay links in a period of 13 months.

The third hole-in-one by this sharpshooter was at the 188-yard 14th last Sunday when he was playing with Doug Foshrooke and Jack Gibbs.

Last summer Olson holed out in one at the 13th hole and then at the 8th.

PORT ANGELES BEATEN: The 12-man team sent over by the Port Angeles club last Sunday found the Royal Colwood opposition just a little too strong. The first half of the match ended 18-6 in favor of the Islanders. Return match at Port Angeles is on Sunday, July 28.

SENIORS GET READY: The Vancouver Island Senior Golfers' Association holds its championship meeting next week, entries closing last night.

Secretary Charlie Smith says most of the low handicap players have entered, including new member Art Dowell.

Three rounds will be played—Wednesday, July 24, at Colwood; Thursday, July 25, at Uplands, and Friday, July 26, at Victoria.

Banquet and annual meeting will be held at the Victoria club at the conclusion of Friday's play.

"PORKY" RETURNS: George "Porky" Andrews, who gave up golf because of his back injury last year, made a reappearance in Colwood's mixed foursomes Saturday, and enjoyed himself so much that he has once again enrolled as a member of the club. When fit Andrews is a match for the best in the district.

Winners of the mixed event were: low net, Vic Painter and Mrs. Gil Anderson; runners-up, G. M. Terry and Mrs. D. W. Spencer; low gross, Gil Anderson and Mrs. C. Hurrell; runners-up, L. Kerr and Mrs. L. Burt.

REEVE AND WIFE WIN: Popular winners of the mixed foursome competition at the Victoria Golf Club Friday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Norris. The Oak Bay reeve is the district's No. 1 one-handed golfer. The couple did the inner nine in net 35.

Second place was filled by Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Hawkshaw, and the hidden hole by Mr. and Mrs. Colin Hart.

WAKEHAM IN SEMI-FINAL: The new B.C. junior champion, Bill Wakeham, reached the semi-final of the Feecey Cup at Uplands Sunday by beating L. A. (Cappy) Rees in the quarter-final. He now meets Dr. H. C. Gill.

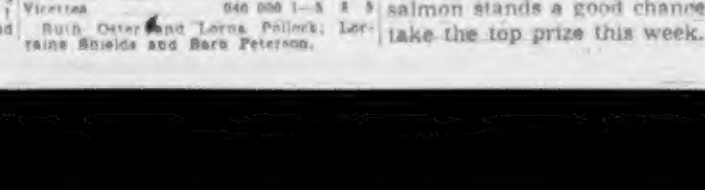

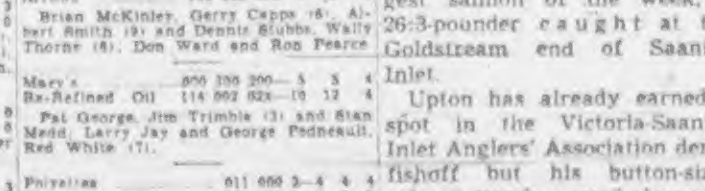

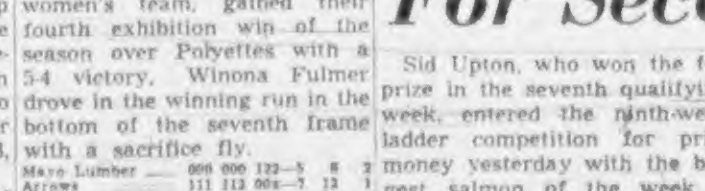

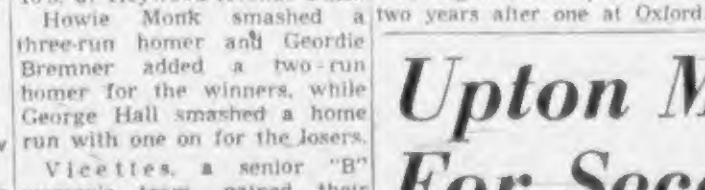

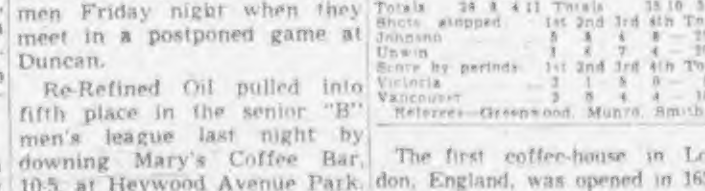

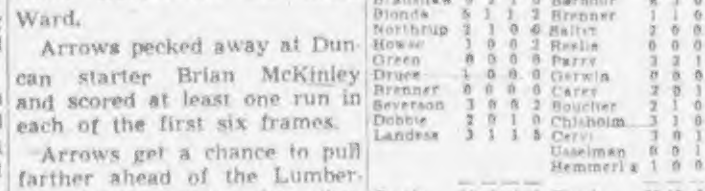

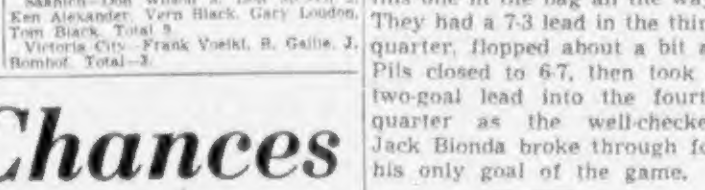

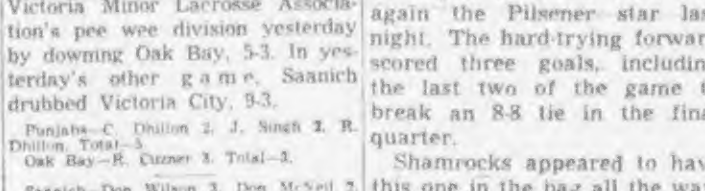

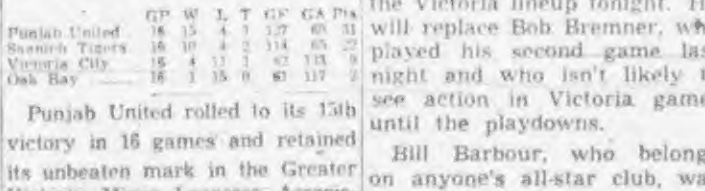

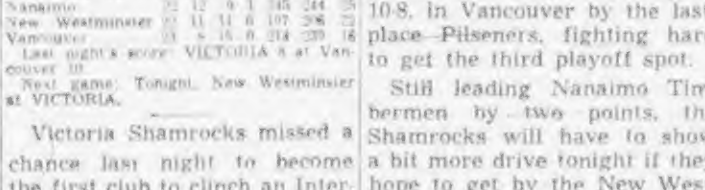

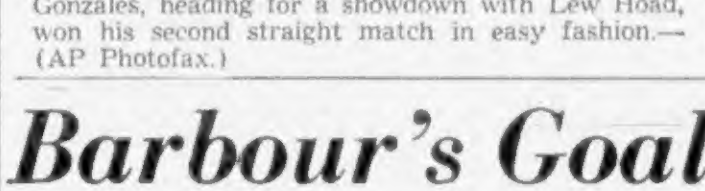

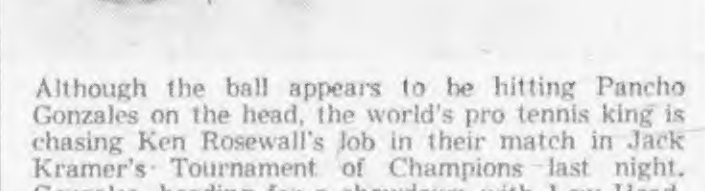

In the other semi-final are B. Saxton, one of the club's newer members, and John Furstman, who ousted Gordon Fellow in the quarter-finals.

PIGOT WINS AGAIN: For the second year in succession H. Pigot is senior champion of the Gorge Vale club. On a rain-soaked course Saturday he shot a gross 87 to win the title by two strokes from Ed Peacock.

The net prize was won by Norman Armstrong (22), net 66, and runner-up was Saanich councillor George Austin (18), 70.

HAWAII TRIP PLANNED: Something new for B.C. golfers is being provided this fall in a two-week visit to Hawaii, where the B.C. Hawaii championship for the W. H. Grassie Trophy will be played over some of the island's most picturesque courses.

In all seven rounds will be played during the stay. In charge of the tour is Dunc Sutherland, owner-manager of the Meadowlands club at Chilliwack. Party leaves by air Sunday, Sept. 29, and arrives back at Vancouver Sunday, Oct. 13. Cost of the trip is $375.

Bishop Hurls Tiremen To Colt League Crown

Steve Bishop, a graduate of Little League baseball, pitched Victoria Tire to the Colt League championship last night when he blanked Dowell's, 8-0, on a two-hitter and struck out 18 batters at Windsor Park.

Bishop gave up both hits in the first inning, but after a bases loaded situation after two were out. From there, Bishop walked only three as he accounted for 18 of the 21 put-outs.

The Tiremen finished two games ahead of Dowell's in the final standings. Playoff competition will start next Tuesday night.

Optimists won the opening game of the Babe Ruth semi-final series by downing Tillicums, 7-2, behind the combined pitching of Ray Tully and Ron Fumelle.

Antlerless Deer Season

Longer by Two Weeks

There were few changes in the 1957-58 game regulations, which were released yesterday, but any differences from last year were all to the benefit of hunters.

Most important changes for hunters in Game Management Division regulations were for the antlerless deer season and the right to include in the season's bag limit of three deer two antlerless deer.

The season for antlerless deer this year will open on November 16 and close on December 1. Last year, the season opened on November 24 and closed on December 2 and hunters were permitted only one antlerless deer in their season limit of three deer.

Season on buck deer remains practically unchanged, opening on September 14 and closing on December 1. Last year, the season ran from September 15 to December 2.

There is a small change in the bag limit for grouse. The daily bag limit remains at eight but six of those may be ruffed grouse. Last year, hunters were permitted only four ruffed grouse in their daily bag limit. The season limit of 40 grouse in the aggregate is unchanged.

Changes in other Game Management Areas are also to the benefit of hunters.

There is an extra two weeks for bull moose in areas 3 and 4 and an extra month for antlerless moose in area 3. The season for bull moose in areas 3 and 4 will extend from September 1 to December 1. Last year, the season was from November 1 to December 2.

There is also a lengthened season for elk in GMA 3. For bulls and antlerless elk both, the new season is from September 14 to December 1. Last year, the season was from November 17 to December 2 in GMA 3.

The elk season for GMA 1, which includes Vancouver Island, is from October 5 to October 21. Each hunter is permitted one elk or one moose.

New seasons with last year's seasons in brackets:

Antlerless deer: Nov. 16-Dec. 1 (Nov. 24-Dec. 2).

Buck deer: Sept. 14-Dec. 1 (Sept. 15-Dec. 2).

Good Coho Fishing ... Almost Everywhere

It won't be long before the sought-after Tyee will be featured in Vancouver Island fishing reports.

August is the month for Tyees but the first of them always show up in July. Fourth to be entered this year in the Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest is a 32-pounder caught off Little River on a No. 4's Tom Mack spoon and weighed at the King Coho Resort. It is almost certain to win a crest for Elmo Hurley, visiting angler from Bellingham.

COHO EVERYWHERE

Meanwhile, entries received in the King Fisherman contest continue to bear out preseason predictions that this would be an exceptional year for coho. The silvers are showing up in numbers almost everywhere with the south island hot spot in the Snoke area off Otter Point. North, they are being taken in numbers off Mistaken Island, French Creek, Qualicum Beach, Little River, Bates Beach, Miramichi Beach, Strathcona Beach, Shelter Point, Campbell River, in fact, everywhere.

'Stop Acting as Lumps of Flesh'

Dirk Keeps It Going

By BRUCE LOWMYER

Dirk Bogarde's performance in "The Spanish Gardener" is a masterpiece of acting. He plays a man who is both a gardener and a man of letters. His performance is a tour de force that will keep you on the edge of your seat. The film is a masterpiece of the British New Wave movement. It is a must-see for anyone who loves cinema.

Well, on the 11th and 12th of tonight will show a program called "The Man on the Moon" about the adventures of a Victoria boarder named John and his reaction to the arrival of a woman in his hotel. Produced by Toronto's Andrew Allen, the show has such characters as Florence Epford-Weems, Lady Vivian and Major Bramble and ex-Victorian Ian Thorne in the cast.

Also worth watching are the Wednesday regulars and four movies, "Winslow Boy," "Magnet," "Farmer's Daughter" and "Heliopopolis."

CTV will send local MacKenzie to cooperate in the drive on CKDA. These day tickets will be a drive to sell Salmon salmon derby tickets starting at 8:30.

TV HITS: Ring Chasby returns a regular TV show and will return to CTV on September 1, 1967.
